Located in the Southern Arizona desert, this hotel underwent a major renovation to the entire facility. The renovation included HVAC revisions, new openings in existing structural elements, new finishes, and ADA accessibility to the public spaces.

David Mason & Associates performed the architectural design of the exterior and interior spaces as well as the associated structural services for this renovation project.

This was also a franchise adaptation from a Holiday Inn to a prototypical Baymont floor plan and interior finish. Conformance to Baymont standards, while providing a regional flavor to the facility was critical to profitability of this hospitality project.
